8 Straight Games Each

The Suncoast Conference's football race has narrowed now to the two clubs who played scoreless ties with each other to start their seasons and have won eight straight games apiece since that night.

Belle Glade, Vero Beach, and the Rams the defending champion, both rest this week, then finish up on Thanksgiving Eve with arch-rivals. As a result there's still no predicting the race which could end in a tie or with either of the two as the victor.

While they are sidelined this week, three conference games are planned for Friday night as others jockey for better places in the final standings which will be set by the two-day Seacrest and Pahokee, currently tied for third, both face tough opposition. Barging

The Board will engage in several work sessions with the architect and low bidder, to determine alternates and further modifications to allow the early signing of the contract.

It is anticipated that 435 calendar days will be allowed, making March 1st, 1965 as the completion date.

City Squares Out

Liquor Licensing

SW 6th-A to C Pl.

The City has begun to change zoning for liquor licenses so that there will be equality to all property owners in the area on Sixth Street SW from Avenue "A" to Avenue "C", Place.

Under former regulations, a property owner might watch his neighbor across the street enjoy a liquor license when he was not eligible.

It might be well for interested citizens to ask, "Just when will we get water from the location certified by the engineers as the 'best' location reported as Winnie's Cove?"

We might also ask just how secure we are at present in depending on the present facilities for water? What is the likelihood of the community suffering a lack of water by depending on present facilities?

Sitting on the shores of the greatest source of fresh water in South Florida, and not having good fresh water is a serious matter to all the citizens of the community.

A home-owned and controlled bank offering modern banking facilities and conveniences to residents of Florida's Sugar Bowl and the Nation's Vegetable Basket, in Belle Glade, began business when the Bank of Belle Glade opened its doors last Thursday morning at 9:30 a. m.

"We are most appreciative of the enthusiastic manner in which we have been received," says President McDaniel.

"On Wednesday afternoon, messages and flowers of congratulations were highly appreciated by the Board, and the response by depositors on the first day, make us proud."

"Activity in the bank has continued throughout the first week, and we are looking forward to a useful service to the community," he continued.

1. I would attend every service.
2. I would read my Bible to gain strength.
3. I would watch my associates, knowing that "evil companions corrupt good morals."
4. I would watch my habits, my money and my speech.
5. I would find a place of service.
6. I would sell the church.
7. Investigate and work with the friendly Belle Glade Church of Christ, 123 N. W. Avenue D. Radio Sermon Saturday 10:45 Religious Sinners

"The HOOTENANNY! Goes To Church"

At St. John's Episcopal Church recently, 140 young people gathered from Episcopal Parishes as far away as 100 miles for a new experience as Episcopal Youth Churchmen (their official youth organization).

With their own musicians (and good ones) recruited from ranks of teenagers and the clergy, they staged a full-fledged HOOTENANNY. (We're told it's improper to write that word without capitals and an exclamation point.) The young Churchmen from Belle Glade and Pahokee were the hosts with supper and cokes, while the parishes from Fort Myers and Clewiston provided the musical talents. All the young people provided a ready-made chorus for the folk music, and the Methodist youth people of Belle Glade were special guests.

Youth groups attending were from Belle Glade, Pahokee, Okeechobee, Clewiston, Fort Myers, West Palm Beach, Palm Beach, Lake Worth, and Fort Pierce, and all enthusiastically participated, ringing the staid rafters of the Church Parish Hall. It's been everywhere, and now the Hootenanny has finally come to Church.

"RAISING" CHILDREN BY THE BOOK

We have a choice in America... a choice denied millions who live under godless communism.

Here is a man who is exercising that choice! He believes that children growing up in the free world ought to know the Author of Liberty. He wants his son and daughter to cherish and embrace the spiritual insights God has given man.

This father introduced his children to the Bible when they were very young. Today the Book of the Ages is their friend. Tomorrow it will be their guide through the frightening age to which they have been born.

The American Bible Society - supported by earnest Christian citizens and the churches they attend - enables millions of families around the globe to share our heritage of Truth with this new generation on whose spiritual fibre rests the hope of the world.

Colorful, Impressive Football Pageant Initiated As Proposed Annual Event

Excitement and expectation were in the air at Belle Glade Memorial Field as the spectators awaited the arrival of the floats for 1953-54 Football Pageant on Friday night November 8.

The pageant began with the eighth and ninth grade float which was decorated in the Ram's colors of blue and gold. Miss Mary Leigh Amerine and George Richardson of the freshman class were the attendants. On the left side of the float were multicolored flowers; the right side was the label "Rams" telling in whose garden the flowers grew. A stone path on top of the float led to the attendants who sat in a wrought iron love seat between two small patio palms.

Next came the Sophomore float which was decorated in the Ram's colors of blue and gold. A small path lead to the attendants seat that had a large arch above. Miss Libby White and Bobby Muller, the sophomore attendants, were entertained by a wildcat in a gold cage.

Riding the Junior float were Miss Janet Hordard and David Hardman. Gaily colored flowers spotted this float to brighten the pure white background. "Rams First" was printed on both sides which told our place in the Suncoast Conference.

Mr. and Miss Class of '54, Miss Barbara Collins and Skipper Schoepel, rode the Senior float. The theme was the school crest. In the back of the wrought iron love seat was a large outline of our crest. On the four sides of the float were the four symbols on the crest; the palm tree, the Ram's head, a football, and a plow. The Senior colors of blue and white dominated the colors for the float. Miss Barbara Collins carried an armful of red roses which were presented to her by the senior class.

A month of planning by the Student Council and a busy week of work by the students of Belle Glade High went into the Football Pageant. There are a number of adults we have to thank for the successful pageant including Mr. Morris, our principal. We hope that in future years there will be more football pageants and that it will become a traditional part of our school year.

Thanksgiving Day —What Are We Thankful For?

"Over the river and through the woods, to Grandmother's house we go." That great American holiday is soon to arrive. Thanksgiving Day is truly the day set aside for all America to give thanks unto her Maker for her many blessings.

The first blessing is that of the freedoms of the American people, freedom of worship, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom from fear. Bountiful are the blessings of the American people.

Another blessing is that of a land that is rich and full of natural resources. We have more than enough wheat, and more than enough corn. Can we afford NOT to share our blessings with those less fortunate?

We can find numerous things to be thankful for outside of the immediate material things we possess — the family and loved ones we have, whether they are nearby or on the other end of this great continent of ours. Through the intricate system of communication that spans our continent they are only minutes away.

Have we stopped recently to thank God for all we have? Only one of the ten lepers thought to return and thank the Master for healing him. Let's not be one of the nine who were too selfish to even remember to whom they owed the blessing.

Make this coming Thursday a real day of Thanksgiving and let the memory of it last around the year.

—Evelyn Harris

Your Future In

PHYSICS

By Professor Levi T. Wilson
JACKSONVILLE UNIVERSITY

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of special articles on college majors being distributed to high school newspapers by Jacksonville University, Jacksonville, Florida.

"Daddy, why does it thunder?"
Pity a dripping daddie, just caught outside with junior in a heavy summer thunder shower, aching to change his clothes, confronted with the question. Does daddy pass it off with a mumble about clouds banging together, or admit he doesn't know. Then, if father is a physicist, does he succumb to the easy out of a quick fabrication, or explain that the sound follows a flash of lightning, caused by the sudden disturbance of air by electrical discharge. Then, how does he explain electrical discharge?

A physicist, to the layman, is the fellow who appears to know all of the answers. And, at least superficially, he should, because the solutions to all questions from A to Z about the non-historical aspects of our world and universe are grounded in the science of physics.

Math The Key

The high school student who stumbles through mathematics had best look elsewhere than the physical sciences for his livelihood. The one who does well, but not extremely well, had better think twice. The one who is not surprised when he gets his answer on the first trial but is surprised rather if he misses it, might seriously consider majoring in physics in college.

The study of physics is one of the most revealing, exacting, and satisfying endeavors that a student can undertake. Possibly surprisingly, the more we learn about our physical world, the more we learn there is to learn. Consequently, the demand for trained physicists is never limited, enlarges constantly.

The student who has graduated from college with physics as a major will have no trouble securing a position in which he

Getting Ready For A Date

By Dick Wulfsberg

Getting ready for a date on Saturday night is quite an experience. You see, I work on Saturdays and I don't get off until 8:30. I try to pick up my date while the night is still young, which is usually 9:00. That gives me a half-hour to do an hour's work.

At 8:31, I break into my house and sprint to my room. While hastily selecting clothes, I find that there isn't an ironed shirt in the house. With five minutes of my time gone, I am unusually unlucky or in a frenzied rush. I, invariably, scorch the shirt. Sadly frustrated, I find another shirt and begin again. The ironing process takes about ten minutes.

I then have fifteen precious minutes left. I frantically polish my shoes in two minutes flat. I dash to the bathroom. With a superhuman effort, I shower and shave in five minutes. Dressing fast and furiously, I bolt out of the house, grabbing a coke on the way. I jump in my car and speed toward Belle Glade. With the saint of all impatient drivers watching over me, I finally make it to my date's home.

Gasping for breath, I ring the doorbell. While waiting for the door to open, I glow with pride and satisfaction because I am on time.

Her mother answers the door and smiles warmly. "Come on in. She's not ready, but she'll be down in ten or fifteen minutes."

CLUBS

The cold weather didn't keep members of the Para Med Club from attending the Thursday night meeting. Miss Hathaway, Dean of Admissions at Jackson Memorial Hospital, Miami, gave an inspiring talk on nursing careers.

Following the meeting the group enjoyed refreshments prepared by the officers. Accenting the table was a beautiful Chrysanthemum arrangement.

For the December meeting a field trip to Jackson Memorial Hospital was planned.

Future Teachers Club

The Future Teachers Club held its second meeting Tuesday, November 12 at the school. Barbara Collins, president of the club, gave a talk on "The Worries of a First Grader."

Student Council

A Student Council meeting was held Thursday, November 14 in the school cafeteria. Plans were made to furnish posters for manners for the cafeteria.

A decoration committee was chosen for the dance after the Pahokee vs. Belle Glade football game.

Beta Club News

Charles Thompson presided at a regular meeting of the Beta Club Thursday morning. The club voted to sell sweat shirts of three different shades of blue with a Ram's head on them. Ron Halbrook, who is in charge of the class pins sales, reported that the pins had been ordered. Extra pins were ordered for students who did not pay the dollar deposit. Those students who did not pay in advance may buy them from their home room representative when the pins arrive, within the next three weeks.

At an assembly program in the near future, new members will be announced. All those students in the tenth, eleventh or twelfth grade with a "B" average or better will be eligible for membership.

Look Out Boys — The Girls Coming!!

Girls, here is your chance to get a date with the boy of your dreams. Sadie Hawkins Day will be November 23, when Belle Glade will become "Dogpatch, U. S. A." The F. H. A. is holding its Sadie Hawkins Day dance in the cafeteria from 8:00 to 12:00. Admissions will be charged a penny an inch for the boy you catch and bring.

Prizes will be given for the best dressed couple. Costumes should be original.

Sadie Hawkins Day originated in 1934 by Alfred Caplin, the author of the comic strip "Li'l Abner." Li'l Abner, a hill-billy, is the son of Pappy and Mammy Yokum of Dogpatch, U. S. A. Daisy Mae was the hero's faithful but unappreciated girl friend until 1952, when Li'l Abner finally married her.

FHA Girls Initiated

The initiation for forty F. H. A. girls was begun on the morning of November 12, and was climaxed by a wienner roast that evening at the park shelter. Along with the new members, several of the older members, and the club sponsor, Miss Savers, enjoyed the evening.

That morning the girls came to school dressed like small children and wore absolutely no make-up. During the day they had to get autographs from various boys, do small favors for the older F. H. A. members, and they could not speak to any boys.

there is one.

"If only the Le Mans had a 6," someone said. Ahem! The standard engine is now an in-line 6 of 160 horsepower, with a pair of extra-cost Vels for added muscle if you want it. "If only the Le Mans were just a little bigger." And so it is. Bigger—on a new 115" wheelbase—and roomier. (And speaking of new, that's what the body and brakes and frame and suspension and steering and wheels and most other things are. Good and new.) "If only the Le Mans came in a hardtop," someone else said. There's a planned coincidence for you. It just came. # The Ram-Page

Still On Top

The Belle Glade Rams raised their record to twenty-two games without defeat in a romp over Ft. Pierce Friday night. The Rams made their show before a capacity crowd on the Fort Pierce field.

John Causey scored for the Rams in the second quarter. The P. A. T. attempt was no good. The Rams were leading 6-0 when Ft. Pierce scored on a sixty yard run. Their P. A. T. attempt was good, raising the score to 7-6.

The Rams made their comeback in the fourth quarter of the game with Charles Thompson going over for the touchdown. Eddie Buckner's kick for the extra point was good. The final score was 13-7. Belle Glade did it again!

Free Friday

The Belle Glade Rams will have their first idle Friday night, November 22. This will give many of the students and football players an opportunity to scout Pahokee's game with Ft. Pierce before the big Belle Glade-Pahokee game.

From My Window

By John Causey

Gazing upon this panoramic view, one sees emerald rows of newly planted sugar cane, stretching across the ebony muck like green pinstrips on a black cloth. The straight rows look like the marks of an architect's pen drawing perpendiculars to a base line. The new tender leaves of the sugar cane rise above the muck like a captive seeking his freedom. The muck, "black as a thousand midnights in a cypress swamp," is the predominant color of this unique arrangement. In the distance, where the earth meets the sky, the sky is like a million flecks of blue combining to give one color. Although it is hard to believe that this scene is not an illusion, the rising heat ripples blur one's vision like raindrops on a window pane.

Dilemma In The Stands

If one thinks the action on the football is exciting or dangerous he should try sitting in the stands.

First he is faced with the problem of finding a seat. After climbing to the top of the stands where you see the only two seats in all the stands vacant, a little girl sweetly looks up at you and says, "I'm sorry these seats are saved." You stand there contemplating what to do when you see two more empty seats, but they are in the middle of the pep section.

During the excitement of the football team's arrival on the field, the darlings behind you spill coke in your new jacket. The first half is a battle between standing up to see and sitting down to keep someone from getting your seat.

The tense moments before the half build up until you are in a state of chewing your nails off. Pahokee fumbles and Belle Glade runs a fifty-four yard touchdown to tie the score. Hooray! Here comes the band!

Since your hands look like a baby's first teething ring, you decide that it would be better to chew a pack of gum, rather than your hands. Fighting for a pack of gum is like fighting for a pair of shoes at a fire sale. When you do finally get your turn, you discover that gum costs a dime not a nickel and they are all sold out of the kind you wanted. Disheartened, but with a wad of gum in your mouth, you shove your way back to find the halftime show over and the second half beginning.

During the second half, bombs come in the form of cups filled with ice or dirt, paper wads, programs, and any other available material. The second half is usually so exciting that you are frozen in a standing position.

The game is over and Belle Glade won. Although none of the players on either team are hurt, you are in the hospital for two weeks with a brain concussion caused by one of the flying bombs.

Tough Enough

For the Pahokee - Belle Glade game, most of the female spectators will be dressed up just a little more than usual. Suits and starched heels will be seen in the high school group. The above is a fitting example of dress for that game. It is a suit of pale green wool. Darker green braids trim the outside of the jacket, the cuffs, and the pockets. The under-bust is of off-white silk.

A government for the people must depend for its success on the intelligence, the morality, the justice, and the interest of the people themselves.

The Rams And Devils Are At It Again

The most exciting game of the year will be the Belle Glade facing the Pahokee Blue Devils on Belle Glade Memorial Field Wednesday night, November 27, at 8:00 p. m.

The game between Belle Glade and Pahokee is the traditional game of the year.

Coach Burke feels that the Rams will be at full speed Wednesday night and are capable of winning the game. Their only worry is stopping Harold Peacock's passing and running. Harold is top scorer in the conference.

Senior girls, chosen by the football team as sponsors, will be presented to the spectators at each girl rides around the football field. The sponsors will be escorted onto the field by the football captains at the beginning of the game. If Belle Glade should win the game, these girls will help receive the Bill Young Memorial Trophy presented annually to the winning team by the Lion's Club.

After the game, the Student Council will sponsor a sock hop for the gym. It is possible that a band will play for the dance.

By Vince Marquess

I am well aware of the danger involved in putting your thoughts in the form of written words and exposing them to the interpretations of all who are literate. The dangers are multiplied-ten-fold when you come to realize that your thoughts will be passed on to others with or without your intended meanings. Someone once said, "Oh, that my critics would write a book!" This brief paper should give many of you an opportunity for a symbolic revenge if not a personal one. However, provocations that may be incurred will be slight in comparison to the satisfaction to be gained in the writing of it.

I suppose that everyone who has a yen to write is eventually prodded into the actual putting down of his thoughts on paper by an accumulation of compelling events, motives and people. Such is the background for this writing and because it is the essence of what is to be said, I want to share it with you.

First, let me state my major premise: A DEDICATED, SINCERE PERSON, GAINFULLY EMPLOYED IN THE "TEACHING" OF YOUNG PEOPLE HAS A PART IN THE MOST REWARDING PROFESSION THE WORLD HAS EVER KNOWN. I make this statement without reservation and condition only by the qualifying words of the statement itself. This is my belief and it has come into being thru years of interaction with young people who have prompted and encouraged its formation by their responses (or lack of response) to my philosophy of "teaching". Fellow teachers, parents and interested individuals have given a degree of temper to the resulting product, which necessarily will never be complete. A truer temper will come with more exposure to the fire of experience.

In answer to those who will cast a wary eye at the sound of my words let me give you the basic tenets of my belief. These, I believe, are the factors that make "teaching" a challenge, a privilege, and an opportunity for serving mankind that no other profession offers. These are the very real intangibles that give meaning and inspiration to those who take up the challenge.

To every teacher who has at times been confused, bewildered, and overwhelmed by the responsibility that is his in teaching with a group of thirty to forty students, I dedicate this listing for I know they share them with me. To any young person who may see an influencing factor in his life among them, I hope you come to understand that we who are "teachers" have a wealth of empathy that we can not always effectively communicate even if we had the time to do so. To interested, concerned parents this listing should give encouragement to stick by your guns. I only wish there were more of you. To any one who

High School Visitation

The Seniors of Belle Glade High School made a trip to Palm Beach Junior College on November 18.

They arrived by bus at 9:30 a. m. Greeted by the student leaders, the Seniors were ushered to the auditorium for a short group meeting. At the meeting they heard the following: 1. The Kiwanis Circle K, a service club at Palm Beach Junior College, took the students in groups of ten on a conducted tour of the campus. This tour took the Student Center for light refreshments.

The students visited the following buildings:

Education

has considered accepting the challenge of "teaching" I hope you will be moved to follow through and give renewed thought to dedicating your life to the cause - anything less than complete dedication will not be sufficient for the task.

I recognize these as basic factors inherent in any group of youngsters in varying degrees.

Each one is a different individual, no two of them are alike; some have all the advantages that wealth, prestige and family pride have to offer - others whose families find it difficult to provide the basic necessities.

Those who have travelled all over the world and back - some who have never been out of their home country.

Those who know love and patience as the basis for family living and discipline - others knowing only greed and hate.

Those proudly wearing an inherited "old name" - others striving to conceal the stigma given them by disgrace and wrong-doings of other family members.

Those benefiting by the use of correct English and proper etiquette at home - some never having been exposed to either.

Those having to decide what to wear - some with less than a change of clothes.

Those with parents interested in their education - some with parents who discount its advantages.

Those who have been shown by word and deed the right thing to do - some who have been lied to, lied about and lied for.

Those who have been encouraged to think and explore - some who have not been given the opportunity to do either for themselves.

Those who have grown up with respect and understanding - some who have just grown up.

Those who were endowed by nature with her gracious gifts - some who have heard only obsequy.

Those who are easy to love and eager to learn - some who are less lovable and less responsive.

Those who are healthy in mind and body - some who have never known good health.

Those with many friends - some who have trouble being friends with even themselves.

There are those who have less than everyone else in most areas; it seems, except in the opportunity to become the best of whatever his surroundings has to offer one with his abilities. This is the privilege of "teaching". To watch each person grow, develop, perceive and become. This is a reward commensurate with the challenge and responsibility.

Lotta Problems

Dear Lotta, Well, here it is Thursday night and I still don't have a date for the Pahokee game. All my friends have bought new suits and have dates. What can I do to get Him to ask me before it's too late?

Signed,
Waiting

Dear Waiting, Why not ask Him to come over Saturday and help you paint your bedroom? You could paint one wall blue and one wall gold; this would serve as a small hint!

Signed,
Parold Heacock

Dear Lotta, What will I ever do? I've been doing so good all year for the Manokee Angels that I'm afraid the Rams are going to tear me up before the game even begins. I'm the number one man on my team and with one me they would never win a game. I'm scared to death!

Signed,
Parold Heacock

Dear Parold, The best thing for you to do is to "chicken" out and go over to Beach City for the Thanksgiving Holidays.

Signed,
Coach Pell Mell Get Out of Here

Dear Lotta, I'm worried sick. Coach Pell Luckless Rams are too big and rough and tough for my measly little Angels. All my boys will be massacred! One boy in particular doesn't stand a chance to walk off the field! What can I do?

Signed,
Coach Pell Mell Get Out of Here

Dear Coach, I suggest that you pack your bag and join Parold in Beach City.

The Thanksgiving Season reminds us, right on schedule, of the national bounty in which we revel. The wonder is that we should need the reminder at all.

An eloquent tribute to our national bounty, with stress on the scenic, is found between the covers of the last selection in this week's book list. Dedicated to the preservation of resources, of soil, breathing space, awesome phenomena of nature, the forces of renewal, and man's spirit, itself, the book is in brimming accord with the season of approaching harvest.

This is The American Earth. Adams and Newhall — (Given to the library by Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Boots in memory of Mr. S. L. Steward).

A graphic plea for the conservation of American resources and natural beauty, this collection of photographs was first planned as an exhibition for the Sierra Club, which studies and protects national scenic resources, particularly those of the mountain regions.

An outstanding American photographer, Ansel Adams, planned the exhibition. Many of his photographs are included in this superlative sequel to the exhibition, to which a strong poetic text, by Nancy Newhall, is fitting companion. Photo fans will recognize several pictures as prize winners in past national competitions.

This is a book to buy as a very special gift, to handle with respect akin to awe and reverence. It has been widely praised since its publication in 1960, and the library is proud to own a copy.

The Venetian Affair. Helen MacInnes.

This author keeps taut rein on reader interest, as she shows in an exciting story of communist intrigue. Bill Fanner, on a holiday flight to Europe, is caught up from the moment he takes his aisle seat in combating an involved bit of master-planned espionage.

Among the other characters are Fanner's ex-wife, an elderly professor of political science, a young commercial artist, Claire Connor, with whom he is paired for a tense train trip to Venice, and an assortment of dedicated communists, and anti-communists, from three countries. In the city of canals and gondolas he becomes increasingly involved, right up to a rip-roaring climax.

Of Good and Evil. Ernest K. Gann.

Mystery fans will like this one, whether or not it is shelved with the woodchests after a stint on the rental staff. It is the story of one day in a familiar combat between forces, the drive to chaos. Battle Headquarters for October is in police station, where Narcotics, Photo Lab, Fraud, Vice, Armed Robbery, Auto, Missing Persons, Homicide, and Sales and Burglary are crowded on the floor under of City Jail, above the two floors of courtrooms, and the morgue at street level.

Mr. Gann does a fine job of directing. A solitary man atop the Golden Gate Bridge stages a suicide. Psychopaths, pimps, murderers encounter law and order, in the garb of city policemen. All of the fragments of plot are tied together neatly, with style and ingenuity.
